Interdisciplinary Assessment and Treatment of Eating Disorders: Knowing and Working with the Continuum of Care

A free seminar offering 1.0 credit hour for continuing education

Program Description

According to the National Eating Disorders Association, eating disorders affect nearly 11 million Americans. Anorexia is the third most common chronic illness among adolescents, yet diagnosis for this disorder is often overlooked by caregivers and providers. This seminar will help attendees better understand the etiology, assessment, and appropriate treatments for eating disorders.

Who Should Attend

Psychiatrists, psychologists, marriage and family therapists, social workers, pediatricians, nurses, and nurse practitioners.

Lunch will be provided.

Space is limited. Pre-Registration is required.

Registration deadline: Tuesday, March 8, 2011
